Decentralization And Veiled Corruption Under

Similarly, much research on how decentralization affects corruption has taken place in democratic and/or law-based contexts. This has illuminated a debate about whether and when improved accountability occurs under centralization versus decentralization (Bardhan, 2002, Gerring and Thacker, 2004, Seabright, 1996). Yet non-law-based contexts also merit further independent attention as they may contain different dynamics, as I hope I have shown in this paper.
